

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE OF SECONDARY DESIGN AND TECHNOLOGIES

In collaboration with DATTA Vic and the Tech School network, Deakin University is offering in 2024, 55 places for teachers from Government schools in a Graduate Certificate of Secondary Design and Technologies fully funded by the Victorian Department of Education.

The two-year, part-time course will give you:

- a strong understanding of curriculum, pedagogy and assessment in design and technology
- the knowledge, skills and experience to move from feeling out-of-field to being a leader in Design and Technologies in your school and community;
- an integrated understanding of contemporary teaching and resources in Design and Technologies;
- experience with the latest technologies and materials and insight into current research and industry practice;
- the opportunity to work with and learn from leaders in the field; and
- a strong network of supportive mentors and colleagues with experience in teaching Design and Technologies.

Design and Technologies will be central to the preparation of all our students for the future world of work. The Graduate Certificate of Secondary Design and Technologies, together with the Tech School Initiative, is part of the Victorian Government's commitment to our students' futures.

This qualification is funded and recognised by the Victorian Department of Education.
